

41min second half of 131min Dr Shankara Chetty speaks Out interview by Conell Loggenberg facebook wake up channel mar2023

Exactly. We, people out there lying to you saying, safe and effective sake of, and effective till you own your dead bed. Then they say, ah, it was a poison <laugh>. Too late, too late. The job is done. You understand what I'm saying? So yes, I can guarantee the health sector around the world has played cover for a military exercise. And that's, so

These rules are the, the international, the, the, the, that the World Health Organization is now making, you know, these additional international health regulations. I see some very concerning bits, which, which substantiates what you're saying about

Sovereign

Yes. Interference with, with, with, with individual current, uh, country sovereignty. Because,

And if you had, uh, if I owned your embassies on your military basis, that would be so much easier.

<laugh>, you know, um, Shankar, uh, um, I'm, I'm saying to, to my listeners always, or I, I'd say to the people listening through this, this medium, is that there is a desperate need for us to be on the ground and go from place to place. Or many places we've talked to people face to face. And, and it is not, one is the information is critical, also helping people to understand. But more critically, and you mentioned it, you touched on it as well, is to relieve people from the irrational fear of, um, irrational authorities that had been created, even like this irrational authority of a health regulator that will now want to strip you and you should now be so afraid. And then the public should now look at you. I wanna go to that doctor because Yeah. He doesn't have titled doctor no more. It these

Yeah. This is

Constructs that needs to be Yeah. Unlearned from, from

This is, this is a vital thing that needs to happen across society. This is something that's been going on for centuries being misled, misdirected. Right. And now that they want to break down the structure of society and leap rebuild it the way they want, that gives us a small window of opportunity to take it back. So we need to come together and build a new, with love and compassion and, uh, uh, collaboration and have the structures ready so that when they break it, we can say, no, no, don't worry. We got our own. Yeah. We're good. So my name is not to try and make a donkey or horse. I know what I'm dealing with. Mm-hmm. <affirmative>. Yeah. So my aim is to disempower the council and sidestep them. And I'll continue practicing as a healer, but I don't need your permission anymore.

Exactly. That's exactly my point. I will say we as if, you know, the, because the conditioning of these, uh, authoritative structures that we have accepted by way of parliament acts that now even that you see when you start reading them, they are in stock contradiction of the original intention of the, of the Constitution. Constitution. And we see this now, you see the, you know, you, you're being confused with by your own regulator saying things, um, that the, the South African Health Regulatory Authority or agency, what you call them there, I'm not sure even reneging on their, on their primary duty.

Yeah, yeah, yeah. How did you get the primary duty look, the primary duty is just there as a slogan. They've been as

A slogan. That's exactly what I say. The people that they controlled, uh, is what's the where, where the kabal finds value. Yeah. So they know you control all these doctors. So I'll capture you and I'll in indirectly control all the doctors that you control. And that's

What we have with uk, UK Health Regulations. And Remember, all these regulatory authorities are not elected. They're not representative. And so by not being elected and not being represented representative, I have no legal recourse when they harm me.

Oh, my word.

And so, uh, I think people need to understand there's only one way to change this. Uh, yes. It need, we need elections, but then politics is another game that needs to be changed. Exactly. The politics is not about serving your constitution a constituency. It's not about solving problems. It's about selling a narrative. And if I feel that your narrative is better than the next politicians, then I vote for you. And then that narrative goes out the window and forgotten till the next election, <laugh>. So that's how that works. So I think the only way to do this, uh, I, I mentioned this on one of the shows. I said, look, my only question to a politician to get my vote would be, would you exit these regulatory authorities, the World Health Organization, the World Economic Forum, the United Nations, if I vote you into power, would you bring South Africa ex sovereignty back? And I don't care whether it's the worst poli politician in the country, the crap he can cause, uh, peels into insignificance with the crap that's gonna be caused by these regulatory authorities. Yeah. And so, I don't care who you are, just do that and I'll vote for you.

And you know what they do, Shankar, whether they, they, they throw this, uh, their favorite, um, scaremongering. Oh, do you wanna turn South Africa into a Zimbabwe? The the thing is, is that people have, many people don't look into the underlying structures. Precisely. These agencies, unelected organizations that are actually operating, um, that running our country by proxy. Yeah. Our actual governments are becoming administrators. For what? For corporate interest.

For corporate interest.

Where we need hear the voice of David.

We really need to hit the mad. You know, Kar, I'm, I'm so grateful for, for the insight that you give, uh, uh, that you continue to give about that you, you called it correctly. It's now proven in, obviously you hadn't been challenged. So that says it all. And now it is being published bit by bit, like we're now being put on a drip, uh, over 12 hours, the truth. It's all available to everyone. And all of this time we can see that this silence had only benefited a narrative that is advancing, as you say, a global takeover. The cancellation of sovereign.

Yeah.

And it may, it may, it sounds farfetched only to individuals who aren't looking properly at this.

We Cornel there is also hope, hope in that, uh, remember, this fight didn't start the century. It's the centuries all battle. Uh, we, we can go back to colonialism, to, uh, to waste, uh, enslaving many countries, uh, stealing their intellectual property and their wealth, and using that to develop military might and control economies. And in so do we keep the world enslaved. Now, uh, this is almost a spiritual war, I mean, of biblical proportions. Eh, all cultures talk about the darkest towers of humanity. And it's here, we just don't see it. Yeah. So, uh, when you look at how the formation of the world's are realigning, you got the bricks group of nations, Brazil, India, China, South Africa, uh, Russia. These are the old ancient civilizations of the world. Now, the Muslim countries want to join us. Mm-hmm. <affirmative>. So it's the ancient civilizations coming together to protect themselves against an evil force that the West has actually propagated for the last few centuries.

Uh, you see them getting investments in gold. Uh, you've seen them putting up satellites for each of their partners, uh, so that they can withstand an internet shutdown and a global collapse engineered by it. You see them trying to take back their food securities. Uh, so there's a plan to avoid this. We gotta be careful Yes. Where we align ourselves. Uh, when, yeah, when I did the video with, uh, with saying that this is, uh, an engineered toxin, uh, within a period of, oh, look, it was quite for three months. And then I realized someone had videoed, uh, recorded that ten second, 10 minute segment, and it went viral on Twitter. Uh, Donald Trump appreciated it on his 2022 campaign. Uh, Vladimir Putin rehad it, Craig Kelly in Australia appreciated it. And then two weeks after that, I got a contact, I got contacted by a guy, a a guy in Russia who's a YouTuber, want to do an interview about my perspective.

And in that I did one video with, uh, all the signs. And the second was about the economy. What's the, what's the game here? And two weeks later, Putin dropped the mandates. Uh, he spoke to an international community where he said, uh, great reset, not on my watch. Yeah. And someone wrote to me and said, I think you saw your video. Something's up <laugh>. And then in 20 21, 20 22, January, by November 21, we had seen the first omicron variant in South Africa. And so everyone contacted me, wanted my opinion, what, what do you think of Omicron? And of course, uh, countries were closing their borders, uh, keeping South Africa out. So I, I spoke out against it and said, look, it's a mild infection. Uh, I would actually look at it as a live attenuated vaccine. Uh, rhino Folic asked me, he said, you know, I want to, I wanna set up a, a, uh, a webinar where you can train the physician Society of, uh, Germany on treating Covid.

And I said, why do you wanna go through all that, uh, effort? And he said, well, Del Delta is killing people like flies in my country. And I said, look, just invite 10 of my friends with Omicron and show us a good time in your country, and I'll get omicron to displace Delta and you'd solve your problems. And he laughed. And he asked, uh, Wolfgang the virologist. And he said, yeah, he's absolutely right. Why do you wanna fight? Uh, Delta? Get omicron in. It's more contagious. It'll displace Delta and it won't kill anyone, and you can deal with it. And we saw that around the world. Now, when we diffuse that attempt at fear mongering right? By saying it's a mild variant, at that point, bill Gates came out and said, well, watch the next pandemic. Ah, and when he said, watch the next pandemic, I think that scared Putin. And he realized the next one's gonna start in the Ukraine, and he's gonna blame him like they did in China. And so he saw the bio weapons,

They're with all their guns, they,

And putting, and he went, you went there. You, you didn't wanna take over that country. This was not about territory. Yeah. It was about going to your neighbor and saying, look, the friends that you're entertaining are threatening my life. They are dangerous. Rectify what you're doing. These friends were standing outside telling your neighbor, don't worry, we'll take him on. And I kept telling my neighbor, listen, you're gonna start a war yet. So America and the rest, by instigating this, they basically triggered a response from Putin. And of course, the countries that decided through a referendum to rejoin Russia were countries that were having a rough time with the proxy government from 2014. Yeah. And they wanted to go back to Russia. And so he went and saved them. And so they were all very happy that he came into the country and they had a referendum and said, look, we'd rather be administrated by Russia. So why does the world take offense with that? Why does the world take offense with them? You decide by sovereignty now

And here, uh, you can see their, their mouthpiece there, media being deployed, having us all believe that Russia, Russia is aggressive Russian against Ukraine. You, you should see the, the, the, the propaganda here. If you weren't flying a Ukraine flag, you're somehow anti Ukraine, uh, or a, a supporter of Russia. I mean, the, the stuff is obvious to those of us who, who take the time they think for ourselves independently on a daily basis. Still here. The British Broadcasting Corporation wants you to believe that it is Russia who started the war and that they have other intentions and that they were not provoked. Yeah. This is,

They blew up their own pipeline.

Oh. And they, they blew up their own pipeline as well. And you, you, some, you think to yourself, alright, um, what more do you have to say? You know, that trans marginal state where you get into and you think, what's the point of saying anything here? Well, but we can't afford that. We can't afford to say that.

Uh, I've, uh, look, the same question comes to me. Why would my creator give me this information? Make me be the only person who saw it this way, and then not let people listen to me. He must have an agenda. So this is about, yes, this is about awakening. We are at a crossroads in humanity. Yes. And this is about awakening. So I had to, I had to, I had to rarely sit back and think I had to watch people being injured, people dying, and unnecessary vaccination and come to terms with that. Uh, even though I had the solution to it. But, uh, I think it's, uh, important to remember that Noah [inaudible], he didn't only take humanity on that arc. He took everyone of God's creatures. So humanity's ego needs to be curved if they have any hope of getting onto that up. And also, it's important to remember that he never stopped the flood.

Uh, the flood happened either way. So we at that point where we are trying to awaken people and those that can't be awakened won't be awakened. And we have to accept that there's a box in church. It's called the confessional, and it's your way out of a vaccine injury. Uh, you've gotta accept that there was a mistake here, you know? And then we'd formed this army of love and truth to fight this. Yes. If not humanity is doomed, we have no choice. Uh, we'll go back to the same cycle again of restarting humanity and going through the same process. This is human beings for you. We don't realize that we, the greatest of God's creations and our purpose on the planet is to protect all these creation even. And he knows that it needs to form a caring, sharing co collaborative community to survive. And we can't seem to figure that one out.

So I think, uh, free world is not as free as it is. Uh, there are people out there that are more free world than most. Uh, and uh, and of course it's the finances that give them that will and that freedom to express it. Mm-hmm. Until we figure that out, uh, we, we are not gonna get anywhere. You see, from a medical perspective, I've never met two people the same in my life. Uh, all are different. But God knows how to make sheep. And he gladly could have made sheep, but he didn't. So he is taken the time to make each one of us different. But we spend our lives trying to be the same. There's no way to fit. I don't know why. We keep trying to fit. We unique. Mm-hmm. Uh, my son asked me this and I said, you know, until humanity figures this out, we've got a problem.

Can you take an elephant, a balloon, a motorbike, uh, airplane, a washing machine, and see which one's better? He also have different purposes. But that's what we are doing as humanity. And now we got an elephant spending his life trying to be a balloon that ain't gonna work. He'll never find peace, he'll never find happiness, and he'll never find his purpose. Cause he keeps looking at the balloon thinking that this was him. So the power that we given as human beings through our spirituality comes from looking inward. So as long as they keep us involved in what's happening, happening outwardly, we never find our power. And all these machines that we have, social media news, all the machines invented over the past 70 or 80 years are there to attract your attention to the outside. They are there to distract you from looking inside. Cuz they know if you look inside, we'd have unity.

We'd understand our brotherhood, and we'd take over the world out of love and care. And that's our purpose. So yeah, they, and, and I'm so happy because, uh, I felt like I'm standing on the opposite end of the hall trying to tell people that you are way, you are being, uh, you are being, uh, you are being misled. But everyone was focusing on these machines at the other side. So I'm so happy that Elon Musk bought one of those machines, <laugh>, and now he can bring it over onto my side and really attract everyone onto this side of the hall and tell them the truth. <laugh>. So yeah, it's a, it's a huge thing going on. And I must say, I, I feel blessed to have been able to touch so many people in my journey too and all, uh, as much as it is a great moment in history that might lead to the extinction of humanity as we know it. Uh, I'm privileged to be born in this time.

And I think we spend our lives looking for miracles constantly. I wish I won the lottery tomorrow, but, uh, but we don't realize, Grinnell, the miracle already happened. It happened the day we were born and we walking, talking, living miracles. And we don't see it. We have taken our lives for granted. It's only when you meet your maker that you realize, oh geez, I'm not ready yet. <laugh>. Yeah. Uh, you didn't, you didn't, you didn't do the best with it. And I think that's until humanity sees that and realizes we are all the same. Uh, and when I say all the same, I'm not talking about creed or color. I'm talking about every single one of God's creations. We're not more special. The only thing that makes us special is the ability to protect all of them. None of them have that ability. And that's what we should do as the son of the Father that would be expected of you.

Mm-hmm. <affirmative>. That is, so you give me goosebumps listening to that, is it's what we are all about. And, um, it, it, it, it, it reinvigorates my own hope, my own courage. My own belief that as one of our needs as, as, as human beings, uh, dad of, of, of association and belong to know that there are others who, who share this beauty. Yeah. That we are not somehow mad in the things that we hope for and that we believe in. We're not mad. Yeah. We are made to believe, to be mad in that we are somehow control virtual. What is the virtual? It's, it's, it's, it's something illusionary. It's not real. This is real. And, um, uh, as you were speaking, uh, Kar, and again, as I, I usually say to my daughter that we can so easily be misled by what, um, authorities want to have as belief about people when they, when they have this, that, or the other credential. But you Yes. Here I say to my daughter again, if you're watching my darling, here is proof to you. That's a human being right there. Yes. He believes, he has love,

Has compassion. Where we make this big mistake. We all know that God resides in every living thing around us. Right. The cat, the dog, the rat, the grass, the trees all has his spirit in us. Yes. Right? Yes. But we, yeah, our eyes are able to see fat and thin and black and white and ugly and pretty. How come we don't see God yet? We go sit in church the whole of Sunday hoping to meet him. He's everywhere around us. Now, the only way to feel his presence is through acknowledging his constant presence. So when you look at a flower, remind yourself that's God when the dog wax his tail. Cause he's excited to see you. That's God. And every person you speak to is an interaction with God. And so if you see that, then you'll start to recognize him around you. And of course we'll curb a bad emotion. Cause I can't be angry with you if I see God in. And so we'll stop shooting the messages in our lives and start listening to the messages he sends along <laugh>. So this is where we fail as human beings, you know? Mm-hmm. <affirmative>, we, our ego that makes us think we better than that. And we actually not.

Oh my

God's. Like we will be, our ego tries to think, make us feel that we in control. We are not. We'd like to be mm-hmm. <affirmative>, we'd like every day to be the same. But no two days in your life were ever the same. So we buying insurance and we try and secure our futures. But you don't know what's gonna happen to you in the next 10 minutes. Why do you even bother about tomorrow? That's beyond your comprehension. But you'll allow your thoughts of tomorrow to spoil today. And all the people that died last night had worries about today. But it was inconsequential.

That's

Exactly. So I don't

See the, there's the reason why we called the now. The present.

The present. Exactly. Use of words. People don't see that. And if you look at truly what is in your control, the only things that you truly have in your control is the control over what you say. Do think and feel. Everything else is beyond you. And the simple rule is in all you say, do think and feel. Make sure it's kind of useful and not harm anyone with it. Be contemplative of what comes out of you. That's the, that's how you control the vehicle God gave you. You don't choose your destiny and just ignore everything around you and try to get, A lot of people have reached the destiny of their dreams. And were are disappointed when they arrived <laugh>. Cause it wasn't where they were meant to be. And the imprint of who, or, or your journey is always in that boy in your heart.

God put a child in every one of us and that makes you who you are. <affirmative>. So it's about learning to live your life, being unapologetically who you are as long as in your journey through, you know, you say, do think and feel, do know how? It's as simple as that. You know, I know Cornell that, uh, with this, with this, uh, case with the council. Mm. I know that they, this is going to be, for lack of a better word, a fight. <laugh>. Right. And, uh, they will try and find dirt discredit. It's part of this cancel culture. Right? Yeah. So let's get that, let's get that out of the way quickly. I was the naughtiest kid in my class. I used to be always up to mischief. So I've made many mistakes in my life and it's grown me and taught me. And I'm not afraid to make mistakes. So if they find any mistakes I've made in the past, I've confessed already <laugh>.

Yes. Because as I say the other words that they use, a smooth sea has never made a skillful sailor, you know? Yeah. If you hadn't made any mistakes in your life, you hadn't learned anything.

Exactly. So, and when I say I, I, I spent 15 years in tertiary education. I know full well how to have a

Dr. [inaudible]. You, you know, it's, it's, it's, it's unexpectedly uh, more than a pleasure to, to have met you. It's, thank you. The, the more i I come to speak and meet, uh, uh, people in the medical field who speak such obvious sense and can make it so easily understood. The more I discover more brothers of mine out there, uh, I said that the, I dunno if you were present at, um, in May last year, the, uh, the the Better Way Conference when I went up. Yeah. Were you there?

No, I didn't. I I watched it afterwards.

You watched it afterwards as you see, see, say mine, when I went up, I said, people always ask, so who are you? And I said, I'm your brother from another mother <laugh>. We Keep looking at people that way. It's, it's something that I think humanity needs to change in medical science. A simple, a simple change. I asked, I asked the, the medical fraternity, why do you call things normal? Normal entails a group that's the same. And I've never seen a group the same. So why do you call things normal? Your normal blood pressure, your normal blood values? I said, you need to change that word to average. Cause there's no such thing. The average blood pressure's this. That's

A very good point

You made there. Right. And more importantly, al if you refuse to define normal cause it doesn't exist, then abnormal will cease to exist too. And that's more important.

Ah, ah.

But they want us,

So asking us to become alienated from ourselves, you have to become alienated from yourself. And you have to apologize for who you are as an image.

So you can't ground yourself in your religion. You can't ground your ground yourself in your country. You can't ground yourself in your sexuality. It will take away everything to ground yourself. And so that's how you lose human beings. You take away the roots, the things that they look back at. We are proud to be the sons of our fathers. We are proud to be part of a religion, part of a country. We are proud to have an identity. Mm-hmm. <affirmative>. And we build on that identity, take that away and lost.

Wow. Wow. Standardization. Yep.

Yeah. Standardization. Dr. Dr. Karti shouldn't say these things. He should say Something

Like everybody else is.

And

If you don't, then we are going to, we we're going to discipline you.

Let me, let me wake up South Africa a little bit for a couple of months. Uh, South Africa and Russia have been engaged in military exercises on our East coast. Now there's a reason Putins here. He's aware that we are gonna be the first country that's going to turn, uh, cause we the, with the jewel in the ground. Mm. And so we, we imminently going to have complete blackouts. That's gonna be the trigger for the reset. And that trigger, once it happens, uh, Ramapo has in bed with the West and he'll invite the un doubt come and reestablish law and order. And so Putin's on this east coast of the country to protect the citizens of South Africa. He knows what's coming. And he's just pacing up and down outside the house saying, don't worry, I'm here. So I know, I know, I know. There's an agenda waiting for it to play out.

<laugh>. I actually the east coast of South Africa too. So you like to take my,

You might be coming for a, you might be coming for a cup of tea or a

Vodka. Actually,

Let know, I think I can tolerate a little bit of vodka. I'll come along.

Yeah. We, we deal with, we deal with at a very difficult time. But yeah, it is, uh, it's the strangest thing. My my name is Shankar. Mm-hmm. Shk sh is the name of a Hindu deity. He's considered to be the creator and destroyer of the universe. And it's considered that he sits a top mount Kala at the foot of the Himalayas, the only mountain range in the Himalayas that's considered radioactive. He's considered to sit on top that mountain range, and he's in silent meditation. And if you wake him up, he'll destroy the world. This is the most religious mountain range in the world. Now. My name being [inaudible], uh, I discovered Spike rok. I found it, uh, the fable behind Lord Shankar is that during humanity's darkest hour, uh, when evil forces were going to poison the globe, he drank the poison and saved humanity. And by drinking the poison, it turned his body blue.

So people keep looking at me and saying, this is a journey we chosen for your name. Uh, when you look at that journey to save the world, he started in a country where threes met in Southeast Asia, and he journeyed north to Mount Ky. The first country in the world to invite me to train doctors was me. There was, uh, Malaysia, the country where three Cs meet the second country in the world to call me to train their doctors. Uh, uh, uh, was the government of Malaysia, the, uh, megale chief country, uh, chief, uh, medical officer there contracted me with the health minister. And he wanted me to train their doctors. So I set up a zoom and I trained those doctors. And then I was wondering, where the hell is me megale? I dunno, this place. And when I investigated it, it is the most rural rustic place where they live with nature and respect, nature, different cultures living together.

It's in the north of India, near Tibit with the range of different cultures living there. And then one day my wife came to me, white faced, and she said, you know, there's a mountain range at the top northern border of Megale, and it's called Mount Kala. And she told me the significance. And she said, why would they be the second place in the world to invite you when the religious significance is that Sharia is the top that mountain range in silent meditation? So it's been a journey where a lot of things have happened in my journey through that don't make sense. But, uh, I know that there is a journey. And as long as I don't judge it, as long as I don't let my ego or my arrogance become part of this, and I allow myself to be led rather than try to lead, uh, reach my destiny. And so every day is about doing what's in front of me, doing what's expected of me. And when what I expect to manifest doesn't, then I know it's for a reason and I accept it. Mm, mm-hmm. <affirmative>. So I know that in a way I am quietly being protected by the vibrations around me and what the universe wants from me. Yes. And I just have to keep doing that. It's a strange thing. Beautiful. I just have to keep doing that. Ah, <laugh>

That I'm probably gonna make a little real about. Well, Shinara, do you give a, um, when I say a final message, a final message at this in of, but this interview that we have to, um, not just people in South Africa watching, I also have people here in the UK also, and then consider people in, in, uh, in other countries that you know, who follow the work you do. Um, at this point, uh, given all the experience that you've had, the encounters and this looming, um, disciplinary hearing, what message, uh, could you summarize or give to people at this stage? Whether it be to give them hope or for them to take note of?

I, I look [inaudible] I would say we are all born in God's image and have his power if we know how to tap into it. And our purpose on the planet was to form a caring, sharing, cooperative society out of love. And our aim, each one of us purpose was to protect every one of his creations. And because we haven't done that, we face a crisis. And as well, we were born free, every single one of us. And so freedom is not something to attain. Freedom is something to protect. So we've been misled for centuries, we've been misled, and we are now at a point where we have the opportunity to change it, to change it for the better. Uh, we are entering the darkest hours of humanity by many religions converging on that point. Uh, fortunately there's always sunlight. And so the hope is in the sunlight that will follow.

And so I think humanity needs to come together to build a new, that's where the hope lies. I think. Uh, it's, it's, it's important to recognize when we've made mistakes and take ownership of it and change it. And of course, the regulatory authorities assume that we will pander to their power, but their power can simply be derailed by not acknowledging it. I choose who will have power over me. And that's the reason I've been considered, uh, let's say not a conspiracy theorist, but I've always been considered, uh, a troubled rebel rouser. Uh, I, I, I've always been that way. So I think it's vitally important for people to understand that this is a time in history for us to come together. Remember, you don't know whether an orange is sweet or sour by looking at it. You gotta squeeze it and get some juice out of it. Now, that applies to your friends also. You never know whether they are true friends till they feel, until they have to face some, some kind of pressure. And under pressure, we see the essence of who we are. And so what's happening now is God putting a great squeeze on us, healthwise, financially, economically, be careful what leaks out of you. If you plan to make it to the a irrespective of how hard he squeezes. Make sure it's love and compassion. That, and I think that's my message to the world.

God, I cannot add anything to that. That is, I, I really thank you for such a comprehensive, um, statement born out of, um, what I sense is a genuine love for your, for your neighbor. And, um, probably to me it's also, uh, could almost inform as to why, um, going into medicine or, or healthcare, uh, do no harm. Uh, it you just ooze. You ooze that. And I would, um, every single one of the listeners, please share this information. Um, there is lots of information out there, uh, publications that Dr. Sheti has put out, those of you who have the appetite to read some voluminous information. I know some of you have said that that is what you like to see. Uh, Dr. Sheti, is there a website where people could go and find some Information about you? Yes. I just wanted to bring that. So it's the first time I mentioned it. Uh, in three years I've been trying to find a home on the web. I'm not very computer literate, but I think what's transpired with the council and where we are at, uh, this year was going to be a year for awakening. I know that a very formative year for humanity. And so my website has just started up and running. I'm hoping to publish all the work in a timeline. Cause I think the timeline of my journey brings understanding more than just categorizing what I've done. Uh, I'm also on the website says, we planning an educational platform where we can offer doctor training and insights into health from a natural science perspective. I'm also starting a platform where I wanted for me to be able to consult globally, uh, where people could book uh, appointments.

But there are other doctors that have shown an interest. So we are hoping to form a global healers network with other doctors around the world. And by, by, by consulting on a single platform where our clinical knowledge gets shared. You see, when I perform a miracle or you, it gets filed away in your file in my desk and nobody gets to see it. And that's how doctors have lost their voice. So by starting this kind of platform and collating doctors clinical experiences, we can give doctors a voice. And so that's our, that's our aim with starting this consultation platform that we can collect doctors clinical data and look at trends in the way we see things. And that gives doctors a voice for the future.

That is brilliant.

Not

Yet.

Yeah. It's up and running. It's uh, it's up. And dr karti.com. D karti.com. Brilliant. We are still populating it, so please bear with us. And, uh, yeah, like myself, nothing's perfect, <laugh>. We'll get there.

Brilliant. And are you happy for me to, to, to put the website link at the top of this video?

Not at all. Not at all. You can do that. Uh, it would be nice to have people there. I think it's important that people that want to be enlightened have somewhere to be enlightened.

Yes. Well, thank you so much Shankar, and absolute pleasure to have met you. And, uh, I'll put that out and hopefully in the near future we can get talking again. Most definitely. After, uh, the group of people who so much want to talk to you, uh, that, that they, that they call themselves the regulators after you've spoken to them.

Yeah. Not for, so I'm, I'm not, I'm not diarizing it and stopping my life for that. Yes. That's just a healthy distraction and all. I look at it as an opportunity to enlighten further.

Yes. <laugh>, I wanna generate awareness, a lot of awareness about that. And I think perhaps also nearer the time, um, the more information we can get about where the hearing, uh, takes place and how it takes place so we can get as many people, whether it is online, to go and watch and, and and, but even to turn up, if, if it is, um, a live hearing besides, there's no reason for them not to gather in the same places anymore.

<laugh>. Yeah. And I'm, I must tell you, uh, I'm looking forward to the big party we are gonna have when we win this war.

Yes. <laugh>, that's what <laugh>, that's

The spirit in arms around the world that are for fight, uh, will eventually meet.

That is the spirit. That is the spirit. I'm going to end the live, but please stay there for a moment. Uh, everyone who's watched this, thank you for watching. Please share this as far and wide as you can. Dr. Karti, um, medical pro, uh, practitioner down there in South Africa will pop the link up there for you where you can find some more information and particularly a bit more information about how this whole pandemic would've been stopped and perhaps had been stopped a long time ago. Goodbye.
